

Revered Swami Ramdev Ji Maharaj addressing a large crowd of flood hit areas

This is not just food, it is nectar. More than 20 relief camps in 67 districts of Bihar were organized for the flood victims

The small shelters provided by Patanjali Yogpeeth proved to be heavens for the hundreds of people who lost their homes in the severe floods

A large crowd eagerly waiting to catch a glimpse of Swami Ramdev Ji. Their bodies were half naked, and were starving for the past several days but the sight of a true saint not only subsides hunger and thirst but also gives the courage to fight against all odds. This large group is probably saying the same thing

The infant has lost its shelter, but the saint would provide shelter to the child throughout her life. Swami Ji named the child as Divya. Around 20 children have taken birth in different relief camps in Bihar.

These people are not aware of electricity. They saw the brightness through the generators provided by Patanjali Yogpeeth, although during the times of flood.
